

Initially created for the older members of BJSO who were not quite ready to go into the Phoenix Youth Orchestra the Phoenix Flames is an intermediate orchestra open to all string players (including Violas!) from year 7 upwards (not only those who have been in BJSO). In January 2004 a small number of woodwind players were added and now that the orchestra has grown it is in a position to accept brass and percussion players as well – making it a symphony orchestra!

The Orchestra's main conductor is Liz Hosford. She is a professional double bass player and also a skilled flautist and pianist, who has plenty of energy and enthusiasm and exactly the right approach for a trainee youth orchestra!

The Orchestra rehearses on 9 Friday evenings of the term from 5.15 to 7pm at Brentwood Ursuline Convent High School. Like the Youth Orchestra they have a break in the middle of their rehearsal to allow time for socialising (The Tuck shop is open). In addition to the Friday evenings there is one Sunday workshop a term which, if it can be arranged, is along side the Youth Orchestra and using the same tutors, most of whom are professional players.

Fees, at present, are £47.50 per term. (But do not sent any money with this form. - You will be asked, all in due time!)
